Thanks from page 17

campsites to remote but likely wilderness areas (Moose River Plains; Cedar River Flow) ... received and transmitted identifying vehicle descriptions, license and VIN numbers.

After a false lead (right model, wrong registration ID), they found him at about 4 p.m.

Only because Ranger Jason Scott went out on foot and queried at individual campsites was our nephew Matthew found. And given the terrain, the size of the target area and — of course! — a torrential rainstorm, this was like finding the proverbial needle in a six-million acre haystack. Molto Grazie.

Thank you, also, to Aleisha who took over when Dispatcher Allie Serrano went off duty, and to an Officer Law at Blue Mountain Lake Dispatch who transferred us to weekend emergency services.

2. Thank You to Amanda Capron at the Old Forge Camping Resort. This was our point of entry to the Adirondack State Park and we were clueless about the impossibility of locating our nephew "somewhere" in the park. Amanda searched campsite registration lists for the names Matthew Reed and a couple of his likely camping friends.

It was Amanda who (a) gave us the police dispatch number for Old Forge and DEC emergency park police; (b) directed us to Hamilton County campsites; and (c) suggested camping areas in the interior Adirondacks (Moose River Plains, Wakely Mountain, Limekiln Lake, and Singing Waters) to focus our search efforts. Matthew was located in the Moose River Plains area.

3. Thanks to the women who manage Stewart's Shop #280 at Indian Lake. Managers at this Stewart's convenience mart on July 11 let us take over their business telephone for hours. Since we had no cell phone service in the mountains, this was our base of operations and our only local contact point for DEC park police (#1 above), including the search conducted by Allie Serrano and Jason Scott. Thank you!

Our sincere thanks to all the above ... and other kind strangers in the Adirondacks that day ... who helped us find our nephew Matthew. During a family emergency. Without cell phone service. When we know we weren't very coherent under the circumstances. I think this is what is meant by the good-deed karma phrase "Pay it Forward." We will.

Sincerely,
